Rotary Rural-Urban Program Thursday; Club Has Birthday

Annual Rural-Urban meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club will be at 11:45 a. m. Thursday in the EUB Service Center.

Members of the Rotary Club will bring as guests farmers from the area. They will hear Dr. T. S. Sutton, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Dr. Sutton is administrator of the Ohio State Agricultural program for India. He returned to the United States yesterday from India. He will tell Rotarians and their farmer friends about the assistance Ohio is providing in developing an agricultural plan for India.

Rural-Urban Day is a high spot in the local Rotary program. Primarily, the annual meeting is to promote better understanding between the city businessman and his neighbor the farmer.

This week Rotarians celebrate the 54th anniversary of the founding of the Rotary Club on Feb. 23, 1905.

THE CLUB was founded by Chicago attorney Paul P. Harris. He teamed with some business associates, a coal dealer, mining engineer and a merchant tailor with the idea of making social acquaintances of his business friends.

The four men met at their various places of business in rotation, thus, "Rotary Club". From that beginning the Rotary Club has expanded to 110 nations, 9,851 clubs and 462,500 members. The club has two mottoes, "Service Above Self" and "He Profits Most Who Serves Best".

The local Rotary Club was established in 1922. It meets weekly at 11:45 a. m. Thursdays in the Elks Home, except for special occasions such as this week's Rural-Urban session.

Gaylord Hall Manslaughter Trial Starts

The trial of Gaylord S. Hall, 34, Circleville, accused of first degree manslaughter, started this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court with Judge William Ammer presiding.

Hall, represented by attorney Richard W. Penn, 114½ N. Court St., is charged with participation in the fatal beating of Roy Thompson on Dec. 4, 1958.

Hall was arrested by City Police and indicted by the January term of the County Grand Jury. He was bound to the Grand Jury under $10,000 bond for second degree murder.

The trial got underway at approximately 9:15 a. m. and the jury was impaneled by 9:45 a. m. The prosecution began presenting its evidence immediately.

AT NOON recess, County Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was testifying. Witnesses appearing this morning were Robert Binkley who was at the scene of the crime, but allegedly took no part in the beating.

Other witnesses were City Police Chief Elmer Merriman, City Patrolman Russell Ogan, Patrolman William Lee Brungs, investigating and arresting officer, and Harold Haddox, truck driver who picked up Thompson after the beating as he was stumbling along a south end street.

Prosecutor Ray W. Davis also introduced Hall's clothing, which included a pair of lumberman's thick soled boots, as exhibits.

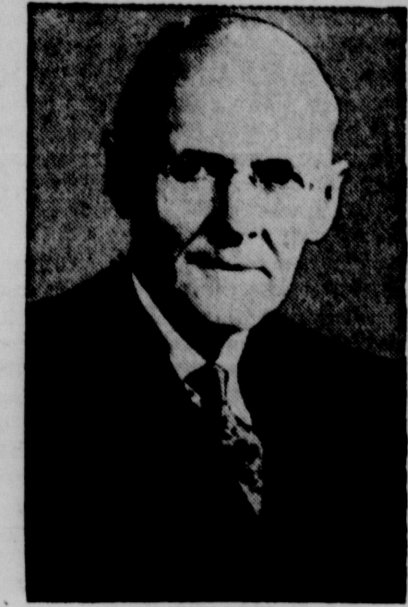

Petit jurors sitting in judgment of the case included Robin McCoy, Route 3, Mt. Sterling; Clyde Michael, Route 2, Ashville; Mrs. Louise Hines, Route 2, Ashville; James E. Sweetman, 133 Watt St.; Mrs. Ruth Keller, Route 2, Williamsport; Robert Youngkin, Route 2, Ashville; Mrs. Olive Hurst, Route 2, Williamsport; Earl Hilyard, Route 2; Mrs. Marjorie Crist, Route 4;

Donald Imler, Route 1, Laurelville; Mrs. Nellie Peters, Route 4; Rodney Betts, Williamsport, and Frank Moats Jr., Route 2.

Approximately 25 persons were witnessing the trial this morning. This afternoon the civic classes of Pickaway Twp., Saltcreek Twp., and Atlanta High Schools were in attendance.

AFL-CIO Chiefs Uneasy after Heated Debate

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders emerged with an uneasy truce today after a revolt led by Walter Reuther against AFL-CIO President George Meany's one-man direction of federation policies.

It wasn't exactly clear who had won. But Reuther and other leaders of the former CIO felt their voices would be reflected more in the policies of the merged, 14-million-member organization.

For one thing, it looks now as if the Washington meeting of the AFL-CIO is planning to underline America's unemployment problem will be along more spectacular lines as urged by Reuther. It probably won't be the mass march of unemployed Reuther first proposed, but it will likely be more of a show than the strictly legislative conference of union officials Meany advocated.

The revolt had boiled for a week behind the scenes of the annual winter meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council. It began when Meany—head of the old AFL—chided Reuther—head of the old CIO—for holding a session of the Economic Policy Committee while Meany was delayed in Washington by a cold. Meany was reported angry at Reuther's unemployment march project.

Reuther, chairman of the economic committee, retorted that Meany had never attended economic policy meetings. Anyway, the red-haired Auto Workers' Union chief said, as chairman he should have a relatively free hand at mapping economic policy, at least in the committee stage. Reuther said if he couldn't run the economic committee, he might as well quit the post.

Reuther was backed by James B. Carey, No. 2 man in the federation's CIO faction. The meeting got so hot that Meany ordered Carey to leave his seat. The scrappy Carey refused.

Meany, Reuther and other high federation officials failed to resolve the conflict as two secret breakfast meetings. A showdown session was held Monday night.

Meany declined to comment afterward. Reuther told newsmen: "Nobody ever talked about busting anything—there are understandings now on things where there were misunderstandings before."

Man To Orbit Earth in 2 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rocket expert Willy Ley predicts a man, probably a Soviet citizen, will be put in orbit around the earth within two years.

The German-born scientist said a manned station will be established in space about six to eight years from now.

He told Los Angeles State College students Monday that American scientists will not send a human into orbit until every phase of getting him back to earth has been solved. He did not indicate whether he thought the Soviets would show equal concern for space pilots' safety.

Castro Moves To End Graft In Cuban Schools, Hospitals

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government acted today to clean up graft in the nation's school system and hospital construction program.

The Cabinet approved a decree annulling hundreds of teachers' appointments to primary schools. They included 400 named by ex-President Fulgencio Batista and many others chosen by his education minister.

The Cabinet charged that many of the Batista appointments were for political purposes only and that some teachers drew pay for doing nothing.

The new law also set up a promotion scale for teachers.

The Cabinet authorized expenditure of $2,155,000 to complete 10 hospitals on which more than 16 million dollars already has been spent.

The government charged the expenditures to date were 60 percent in excess of the real value. It said the contracts had been granted for personal gain and that some projects were unfinished after 14 years. It ordered the old contracts canceled and new ones issued.

The government also ordered suspension of pension payments to former congressmen who have been getting $500 a month.

A firing squad meanwhile silenced the last of three former officers branded as top war criminals by Castro's regime.

Former Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao, 45, was executed just before midnight, shortly after he had been condemned to death in a seven-hour trial and an insanity plea had been denied. He was convicted of assassination, homicide and robbery while fighting the guerrillas in Oriente province.

Eleven other former soldiers and policemen were executed Monday, bringing the unofficial total to 328. Fourteen others were sentenced to death in Pinar del Rio province.

Atheism Taught In Texas?

Universities Accused By State Legislators

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Some Texas' most prominent institutions of learning, including Southern Methodist University, were accused Monday of teaching atheism.

A group of four state representatives hinted at a legislative probe as church and education leaders denied or questioned the charges of godlessness.

Reps. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs, Ben Lewis of Dallas, and W. T. Dungan of McKinney made the charges. They said they would ask the Texas Legislature for what they termed remedial legislation.

The legislators said they would introduce a bill requiring an annual oath from teachers in state schools and colleges affirming a belief in a supreme being.

Dr. Robert Baile, pastor of the First Unitarian Church in Dallas said, "They mean so well. They intend to be helpful. But they are innocent of history."

Chapman, an avowed segregationist, was the leader of a group of legislators who a few years ago caused a Negro girl to be dropped from a University of Texas light opera presentation.

Bishop William C. Martin said he was confident the legislators' statements "had no basis in fact."

Vice President Lanier Cox of the University of Texas said the administration had no knowledge of atheism being taught at the university.

Vice President Sterling Wheeler of SMU said there would be no immediate official comment.

Donahay To Attend Great Lakes Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lt. Gov. John W. Donahay has been appointed Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's personal representative to attend the Great Lakes Harbor Assn. meeting opening Wednesday in Detroit. The officials will discuss legislation concerning diversion of water from the lakes.

Four boys, captured after a five-block chase, were charged with homicide early today.

Dead was Tony Labanchino, 17. John Lombardi, also 17, was shot in the hand.

The four arrested were Carl Cintron, 16; Carlos Reyes, 17; Melvin Torres, 16, and Israel Marvos, 17.

Ohio Assembly May Police Taverns, Set Up New Utility Rate Schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bad-point system for tavern keepers and a new method of figuring utility rates were in the Ohio Legislature today.

The proposed rate bill could reduce monthly utility bills. The point system could be the weapon to drive the undesirable out of the tavern business in Ohio.

The bills were among 32 introduced Monday night as lawmakers returned to Columbus for their eighth work week.

A few hours before the week's sessions opened officially, the policy committee of the Democratic-dominated House heard a strong endorsement of a two-cent tax increase on gasoline and diesel fuel to finance a continuation of the state's big highway construction program.

The endorsement came from Rep. George M. Hook Jr. (D-Brown) and had the backing of House Speaker James A. Lantz.

Lantz also agreed with Hook that passenger car license tag fees should be increased from $10 to $15 a year and driver license fees from $1 for three years to $1 for a single year. Hook said these increased fees should pay for county, municipal and township roads.

When they meet today, legislators will be confronted by another of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's special measures. Today's bill is on his suggestions toward stamping out labor racketeering. He plans two others this week—on industrial development and national resources. The budget message will be delayed until next week.

The point system for tavern keepers, proposed by Sen. Julius Petrash (D-Cuyahoga) after a conference with DiSalle, is modeled after a point system for Ohio motorists.

Present liquor laws and regulations provide for suspension of law violations by permit holders and revocation in flagrant cases. The point system is the first proposal to set a cut-off point for habitual violators.

The proposal would set a limit of 10 bad points on each permit holder. Those who accumulated 10 or more bad points within a three-year period would be subject to permit revocation "forever."

Sales to minors would cost the permit holder five points. Sunday, after-hours or election-day sales; sales or possession of diluted liquor or refilled bottles; bootleg sales or permitting disorderly operation on sales to intoxicated persons would draw a three-point penalty. All other violations of the liquor laws would cost two points each.

The attempt to change Ohio's utility rate-making formula dates back to the days of five-term Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Present law requires the Utility Commission, in setting a utility's investment — on which rates are based—to follow a formula of "reproduction cost new, less observed depreciation." They call it RCN, for short.

Ohio's the only state which still uses the RCN formula. Since the Utilities Commission, in setting rates, generally allows a return of about 6 percent on investment, obviously a lower rate base would result in lower charges to consumers.

In their 1958 platform, Ohio Democrats pledged a change in the rate formula to lower the monthly bills of utility users. The bill introduced Monday night was sponsored by democratic reps. Frances McGovern of Akron and James P. Kilbane of Cleveland. The bill provides:

"In ascertaining the valuation of property, the commission shall determine the actual legitimate

11 Students Feel Paddle; Moms Irked

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A group of mothers meet with Shelby County school officials today to air their complaints against a school principal who paddled 11 student strikers.

General Sessions Judge Willard Dixon ordered the informal conference after the mothers requested he issue assault and battery warrants against John Barnes, principal of Bartlett High School.

Barnes has admitted firmly applying a maple paddle to the seats of 11 boys and said "There are still seven or eight to go." He said the paddlings "nipped in the bud" a direct challenge to school authority.

The trouble started, Barnes said, when he carried out his threat to shut down a drink machine if it continued to be jammed with slugs. He estimated about 20 boys tried to organize a student boycott of the school lunchroom and when that failed, left the school without permission.

Barnes gave the boycott leaders two choices: take seven licks with the paddle or bring their parents to school. He said 11 of them have preferred the licks so far.

Teen-Age Gang Warfare
Leaves Youth, 17, Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—A feud between two teen-age gangs erupted in violence in the crowded Brooklyn theater district Monday night. One boy was killed and another wounded.

Four boys, captured after a five-block chase, were charged with homicide early today.

Dead was Tony Labanchino, 17. John Lombardi, also 17, was shot in the hand.

The four arrested were Carl Cintron, 16; Carlos Reyes, 17; Melvin Torres, 16, and Israel Marvos, 17.

Solon Says He Erred Hiring Son; Blames Cancer Illness

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) says he made a mistake in judgment in putting his 19-year-old college freshman son on his congressional payroll at $11,873 a year, the Des Moines Register said today.

In a copyrighted story from its Washington bureau, the newspaper quoted Carter as saying "I'm afraid I didn't have this thing in very good perspective and I'm going to correct it."

"I've made a mistake of judgment on this matter," the newspaper quoted Carter, "and I am going to adjust it within a few days."

"I've been ill with cancer and Steven has been carrying a lot of the load for me. My illness and the fact I was told that I might not live many weeks probably resulted in my making a misjudgment as to what I should pay Steve."

The freshman congressman said previously his son, a law student at George Washington University, had the best qualifications of applicants as his chief assistant.

Carter told the Register he had received numerous letters from Iowa and "it is about 60-40 against me."

The newspaper further quoted Carter as saying that because of the reaction he felt it was "time to lay things on the line and tell the people about my physical condition which I am sure influenced my actions."

The congressman said treatments have been successful. He added that doctors tell him if the cancer does not attack a vital organ he probably can keep it controlled and live out a normal life.

"I'm feeling fine again," Carter was quoted.

The newspaper said Carter wants to keep his son on the payroll at a sharply reduced salary but that he hasn't decided yet whether to do this. He said the family did not need the money.

Big 'If' Noted In Any Pact With Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP)—If a foolproof system to control armaments or nuclear weapons testing could be negotiated, Red China should be included in it, says the State Department's top Far East specialist.

But to include Red China, the system would have to be sound and workable, Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, told the Senate Disarmament subcommittee Monday.

Foolproof guarantees would be needed, he said, in light of what Robertson called broken promises and violations by Red China of truce and arms control agreements in Korea and Indochina.

Robertson, who has long opposed any diplomatic dealings with the Chinese Communists, said to include Red China in a world disarmament pact without adequate control measures might cause the free world to relax its vigilance.

Robertson took sharp issue with two previous witnesses, both former State Department officials, who suggested this might be a good time for Nationalist China to withdraw from Quemoy and Matsu islands.

Turning over the offshore islands to Red China would amount to appeasement and would not relieve tensions, Robertson said.

Birmingham Refuses
7 Negroes at School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Applications of seven Negroes for transfer to white schools have been rejected. No action has been taken on two other applicants.

Six applicants were turned down, school Supt. Fraser Banks said Monday, because he felt transfer would not be in the best interest of the children involved.

Banks said the seventh was rejected because the applicant was not old enough.

Khrush Says Let Germans Settle Issue

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, emerging from two days of talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, threw cold water today on the West's plan for a four-power meeting on Germany.

Khrushchev told a political rally in the Kremlin that the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France cannot discuss German reunification because "this is a question for the two German states themselves."

A four-power meeting at the foreign minister level, as suggested by the West, might increase instead of reduce international tension, Khrushchev declared.

Khrushchev conceded that the four powers could discuss prevention of militarism in West and East Germany. But he then restated the Soviet stand that reunification should be settled only by the Germans themselves.

He also repeated the Soviet proposal for a conference of heads of government of all those nations that waged war against Hitler in World War II to work out a treaty with Germany.

The Western powers rejected this proposal in their recent notes calling for a four-power meeting on Germany at the foreign ministers level.

Khrushchev warned that any violation of the East German borders in the dispute over West Berlin would be considered an act of aggression against the Warsaw Pact powers.

While Khrushchev was speaking in the Kremlin, the visiting Macmillan was sight-seeing.

Macmillan called off a hunting trip scheduled for Wednesday, and planned a full day of informal talk with the Soviet leader at the British Embassy's villa outside Moscow.

The sightseeing today was with a purpose, a motor trip 90 miles northeast of Moscow to look over the world's largest atom smasher — the 10-billion-volt synchrotron at the Atomic Research Institute at Dubna.

Among the chief researchers at the institute is Italian-born scientist Bruno Pontecorvo, who slipped out of England in October 1950 to work in the Soviet Union. He and Macmillan were not expected to meet.

Moscow newspapers gave Macmillan the warmest reception since his arrival Saturday. The Communist party organ Pravda and government paper Izvestia carried front page photographs of Monday's formal meeting between the two leaders and devoted nearly two of their six pages to recounting Macmillan's activities and speeches.

The papers and Moscow radio also gave full play to Monday night's dinner at the British Embassy, where Khrushchev hailed Macmillan as a man of peace.

Macmillan opened his speech with a tribute to Red Army Day and the Soviet role in winning World War II.

"We continue to cherish the glorious memory of those heroic days," he said. "When I ponder the present state of the world, I ask myself whether we have not today a common interest of at least equal degree. This common interest is peace."

Khrushchev expressed regret that "it has not been possible to uphold the wartime alliance between Britain and the U.S.S.R. in the postwar world."

But he said the Soviets "think that the conversations between us will bring results; we think you want agreement even if all obstacles cannot be solved at once."

Tot Survives Heart Surgery

CLEVELAND (AP)—Penny Stinner, 3-year-old Findlay girl who had her heart operated on Monday, was being kept on the danger list today at Marymount Hospital here, even though her condition was listed as "very satisfactory."

Surgeons fixed a congenital defect, an opening between the lower chambers of Penny's heart.

Members of the armed forces provided 20 pints of blood used in the operation. A heart-lung machine took over functions of Penny's heart during the operation. A hospital spokesman said it will be three or four days before the child will be taken off the danger list.

The proposal would set a limit of 10 bad points on each permit holder. Those who accumulated 10 or more bad points within a three-year period would be subject to permit revocation "forever."

Sales to minors would cost the permit holder five points. Sunday, after-hours or election-day sales; sales or possession of diluted liquor or refilled bottles; bootleg sales or permitting disorderly operation on sales to intoxicated

11 Students Feel Paddle; Moms Irked

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A group of mothers meet with Shelby County school officials today to air their complaints against a school principal who paddled 11 student strikers.

General Sessions Judge Willard Dixon ordered the informal conference after the mothers requested he issue assault and battery warrants against John Barnes, principal of Bartlett High School.

Barnes has admitted firmly applying a maple paddle to the seats of 11 boys and said "There are still seven or eight to go." He said the paddlings "nipped in the bud" a direct challenge to school authority.

The trouble started, Barnes said, when he carried out his threat to shut down a drink machine if it continued to be jammed with slugs. He estimated about 20 boys tried to organize a student boycott of the school lunchroom and when that failed, left the school without permission.

Barnes gave the boycott leaders two choices: take seven licks with the paddle or bring their parents to school. He said 11 of them have preferred the licks so far.

Teen-Age Gang Warfare Leaves Youth, 17, Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—A feud between two teen-age gangs erupted in violence in the crowded Brooklyn theater district Monday night. One boy was killed and another wounded.

Four boys, captured after a five-block chase, were charged with homicide early today. Dead was Tony Labanchino, 17. John Lombardi, also 17, was shot in the hand.

The four arrested were Carl Cintron, 16; Carlos Reyes, 17; Melvin Torres, 16, and Israel Marvos, 17.

Solon Says He Erred Hiring Son; Blames Cancer Illness

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) says he made a mistake in judgment in putting his 19-year-old college freshman son on his congressional payroll at $11,873 a year, the Des Moines Register said today.

In a copyrighted story from its Washington bureau, the newspaper quoted Carter as saying "I'm afraid I didn't have this thing in very good perspective and I'm going to correct it."

"I've made a mistake of judgment on this matter," the newspaper quoted Carter, "and I am going to adjust it within a few days."

"I've been ill with cancer and Steven has been carrying a lot of the load for me. My illness and the fact I was told that I might not live many weeks probably resulted in my making a misjudgment as to what I should pay Steve."

The freshman congressman said previously his son, a law student at George Washington University, had the best qualifications of applicants as his chief assistant.

Carter told the Register he had received numerous letters from Iowa and "it is about 60-40 against me."

The newspaper further quoted Carter as saying that because of the reaction he felt it was "time to lay things on the line and tell the people about my physical condition which I am sure influenced my actions."

The congressman said treatments have been successful. He added that doctors tell him if the cancer does not attack a vital organ he probably can keep it controlled and live out a normal life. "I'm feeling fine again," Carter was quoted.

The newspaper said Carter wants to keep his son on the payroll at a sharply reduced salary but that he hasn't decided yet whether to do this. He said the family did not need the money.

Ohio Floods Cost RC $964,517

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Red Cross says it has spent $1,201,546 for emergency food, shelter and clothing and repair of flood damaged homes in a five-state district.

E. V. Bighinatti, director of the mid-eastern disaster operation said Monday the organization has already assisted 10,731 families in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, New York and West Virginia.

He gave this breakdown of progress (indicating number of families applying for aid, number aided and amount expended):

Ohio—8,485; 4,378; $964,517.
Pennsylvania—1,435; 885; $147,434.
Indiana—533; 335; $54,654.
New York—156; 132; $31,738.
West Virginia—102; 102; $3,200.

Ohio Assembly May Police Taverns, Set Up New Utility Rate Schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bad-point system for tavern keepers and a new method of figuring utility rates were in the Ohio Legislature today.

The proposed rate bill could reduce monthly utility bills. The point system could be the weapon to drive the undesirable out of the tavern business in Ohio.

The bills were among 32 introduced Monday night as lawmakers returned to Columbus for their eighth week.

A few hours before the week's sessions opened officially, the policy committee of the Democratic-dominated House heard a strong endorsement of a two-cent tax increase on gasoline and diesel fuel to finance a continuation of the state's big highway construction program.

The endorsement came from Rep. George M. Hook Jr. (D-Brown) and had the backing of House Speaker James A. Lantz.

Lantz also agreed with Hook that passenger car license tag fees should be increased from $10 to $15 a year and driver license fees from $1 for three years to $1 for a single year. Hook said these increased fees should pay for county, municipal and township roads.

When they meet today, legislators would draw a three-point penalty. All other violations of the liquor laws would cost two points each.

The attempt to change Ohio's utility rate-making formula dates back to the days of five-term Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Present law requires the Utility Commission, in setting a utility's investment — on which rates are based — to follow a formula of "reproduction cost new, less observed depreciation." They call it RCN, for short.

Ohio's the only state which still uses the RCN formula. Since the Utilities Commission, in setting rates, generally allows a return of about 6 per cent on investment, obviously a lower rate base would result in lower charges to consumers.

In their 1958 platform, Ohio Democrats pledged a change in the rate formula to lower the monthly bills of utility users. The bill introduced Monday night was sponsored by Democratic Rep. Frances McGovern of Akron.

James P. Kilbane of Cleveland. The bill provides:

"In ascertaining the valuation of property, the commission shall determine the actual legitimate persons would draw a three-point penalty. All other violations of the liquor laws would cost two points each.

cost of the property of every public utility and railroad, the depreciation therein and, when found necessary by the commission for rate-making purposes, other facts which bear on the determination of such cost of depreciation and the fair value of such property."

The Senate passed three bills and sent them to the House. They would:

Increase the fees which may be allowed counsel assigned by courts to a maximum of $700 per case plus expenses against a present $100 limit.

Allow an individual to be prosecuted under a bill of criminal information if he agrees to waive grand jury indictment.

Prohibit horse racing on Good Friday.

Bills introduced included measures to:

Set up an eight-member motion picture board in the State Department of Education to classify movies as suitable for family or adult viewing.

Appropriate $608,400 for the Stark-Hugle Run Creek watershed development in Stark County.

Prohibit common-law marriages.

Withhold all government aid for those who fail to vote in consecutive elections without a valid excuse.

Khrush Says Let Germans Settle Issue

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, emerging from two days of talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, threw cold water today on the West's plan for a four-power meeting on Germany.

Khrushchev told a political rally in the Kremlin that the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France cannot discuss German reunification because "this is a question for the two German states themselves."

A four-power meeting at the foreign minister level, as suggested by the West, might increase instead of reduce international tension, Khrushchev declared.

Khrushchev conceded that the four powers could discuss prevention of militarism in West and East Germany. But he then restated the Soviet stand that reunification should be settled only by the Germans themselves.

He also repeated the Soviet proposal for a conference of heads of government of all those nations that waged war against Hitler in World War II to work out a treaty with Germany.

The Western powers rejected this proposal in their recent notes calling for a four-power meeting on Germany at the foreign ministers level.

Khrushchev warned that any violation of the East German border in the dispute over West Berlin would be considered an act of aggression against the Warsaw Pact powers.

While Khrushchev was speaking in the Kremlin, the visiting Macmillan was sight-seeing.

Macmillan called off a hunting trip scheduled for Wednesday, and planned a full day of informal talk with the Soviet leader at the British Embassy's villa outside Moscow.

The sightseeing today was with a purpose, a motor trip 90 miles northeast of Moscow to look over the world's largest atom smasher — the 10-billion-volt synchrotron at the Atomic Research Institute at Dubna.

Among the chief researchers at the institute is Italian-born scientist Bruno Pontecorvo, who slipped out of England in October 1950 to work in the Soviet Union. He and Macmillan were not expected to meet.

Moscow newspapers gave Macmillan the warmest reception since his arrival Saturday. The Communist party organ Pravda and government paper Izvestia carried front page photographs of Monday's formal meeting between the two leaders and devoted nearly two of their six pages to recounting Macmillan's activities and speeches.

The papers and Moscow radio also gave full play to Monday night's dinner at the British Embassy, where Khrushchev hailed Macmillan as a man of peace.

Macmillan opened his speech with a tribute to Red Army Day and the Soviet role in winning World War II.

"We continue to cherish the glorious memory of those heroic days," he said. "When I ponder the present state of the world, I ask myself whether we have not at least a common interest of at least equal degree. This common interest is peace."

Khrushchev expressed regret that "it has not been possible to uphold the wartime alliance between Britain and the U.S.S.R. in the postwar world."

But he said the Soviets "think that the conversations between us will bring results; we think you want agreement even if all obstacles cannot be solved at once."

Robertson took sharp issue with two previous witnesses, both former State Department officials, who suggested this might be a good time for Nationalist China to withdraw from Quemoy and Matsu islands.

Turning over the offshore islands to Red China would amount to appeasement and would not relieve tensions, Robertson said.

Birmingham Refuses 7 Negroes at School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Applications of seven Negroes for transfer to white schools have been rejected. No action has been taken on two other applicants.

Six applicants were turned down. School Supt. Fraser Banks said Monday, because he felt transfer would not be in the best interest of the children involved.

Banks said the seventh was rejected because the applicant was not old enough.

Surgeons fixed a congenital defect, an opening between the lower chambers of Penny's heart.

Members of the armed forces provided 20 pints of blood used in the operation. A heart-lung machine took over functions of Penny's heart during the operation. A hospital spokesman said it will be three or four days before the child will be taken off the danger list.

Two Drivers Cited For Intoxication

Two motorists arrested for intoxicated driving were included on today's list of cases handled in Circleville Municipal Court.

One of the driver's, Thomas A. Groom, 64, Columbus, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his operator's license suspended for six months.

Groom also was fined $100 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident. The court suspended $50 of this fine. He was arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

The other intoxicated driving count was against Kenneth E. Miller, 31, Bellevue, Ky. Arrested by the State Highway Patrol, he was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months.

Robert R. Walker, 74, Route 2, Ashville, was fined $10 and costs for driving on the wrong side of the highway. The fine was suspended. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Man Is Sentenced On Petit Accusation

Onno Wilson, Circleville, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of petit larceny.

Wilson was cited into Circleville Municipal Court. The court suspended $25 of the fine and imposed probation for six months.

The affidavit was filed by Julie Winfough, manager of the local United Department Store. The affidavit charged Wilson with taking items of clothing.

General Marshall Remains 'Weak'

PT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall remained weak and in serious condition today, a morning medical bulletin said, with no change in condition since Monday night.

Col. George M. Powell, his physician at the Army hospital here, said that the 78-year-old Marshall "is still conscious and comfortable."

Marshall entered the hospital Jan. 15 after a stroke. Since then he has suffered another stroke and mild pneumonia.

Unfair Labor Ban Is Asked

DiSalle Says State Needs New Statute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio needs a law to restrain and punish individuals who engage in unethical and unfair labor practices, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asserted today.

He asked the Legislature in a special message for enactment of a state ethical practices code patterned after that of the AFL-CIO.

The Democrat governor stressed that his proposal was aimed at individuals and not at the labor movement. His message said in part:

"... I feel that, just as legislation was needed to attempt to restrain unconscionable activities on the part of some individuals in management during part of the 20th Century, that there is now a need for legislation to restrain and to punish those individuals who engage in unethical and unfair labor practices as a result of the positions which they hold within a very necessary movement in our society"

Proposed enactments would:

1. Prevent "paper charter" locals by requiring unions to file a prospectus with the secretary of state setting out its legal and legitimate purposes.

2. Provide a maximum fine of $1,000 and one year in prison for issuing an illiit union charter.

3. Provide 5-to-20-year imprisonment for officials who divert union welfare funds to their own or unauthorized purposes.

4. Make union officials convicted of crimes involving moral turpitude subject to imprisonment for continuing to hold office.

5. Prevent officials convicted of seeking violent or unlawful overthrow of government from holding union office.

6. Prevent officials from investing union funds in a company with which the union has engaged in collective bargaining.

7. Ban acceptance by labor officials of anything valuable from firms with which they have bargained collectively.

8. Punish union officials and members, as well as company officials and agents, who commit strike violence against "the person or property of any other person or a company or a union."

Tree-Girdling Judgment Is Upheld on Appeal

CINCINNATI (AP) — A $3,000 judgment to the Sugar Grove Cemetery in Wilmington for girdling a tree was upheld today by the Court of Appeals.

The judgment was against Elton Farren of Wilmington, who, according to the charges, took his hired man to the cemetery and girdled a large tree. Farren said he was afraid the tree would fall on the family mausoleum.

The cemetery had asked for $5,000 damages. A jury in common pleas court, however, fixed the judgment at $3,000.

Soliciting Brings Fine

Victory McKeever, 19, Xenia, today was fined $10 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court on a charge of illegal soliciting.

He was arrested by city police. Officers said he was attempting to sell photograph contracts without a permit.

Greenfield, WCH Investigate Brawl Following Cage Game

Greenfield High School officials met in special session yesterday to form a statement concerning a fight between players following McClain's basketball game at Washington C. H. Friday night.

Richard Craft, Greenfield cager, suffered a fractured jaw in the tussle which took place in the WCH gymnasium lobby about 45 minutes after the game was over. Washington C. H. won the game, 55-52.

According to a witness, the fight involved one WCH player and an undetermined number of Greenfield players. The witness said after the scuffle started several Greenfield cagers, who had been on the bus waiting outside the door, came piling in.

Ex-Bank Cashier Taken To Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former bank cashier Fred K. Lewis 41, of Chillicothe, has been taken to the Federal Correctional Institution at Milan, Mich., the U.S. marshal's office said today.

Lewis worked for the Rushville Banking Co. which had been headed by his father, Fred B. Lewis, 69. Both father and son were sentenced to five years in prison and fined $10,000 each Jan. 16, after pleading guilty in U.S. District Court to charges of conspiring to embezzle more than half a million dollars.

The son was turned over to a deputy marshal to be taken to prison Feb. 14. The elder Lewis is being examined by physicians to determine whether prison would endanger his life, as his attorneys contend.

Radio Message Cheers Searchers

LITTLETON, N.H. (AP) — A faint radio message today gave searchers hope that two doctors missing on a plane flight are still alive somewhere in the rugged, snow-covered White Mountains area.

Ground and air search teams today concentrated their hunt for Dr. Ralph E. Miller, 60, and Dr. Robert E. Quinn, 32, in the eight-mile area between Mt. Agassiz and Franconia Notch.

Dr. Karl Steady, 55, a Laconia osteopathic physician and member of the Civil Air Patrol, reported he received fragments of a wireless signal Monday which read: "Agassiz" and "Notch."

Greek Archbishop Granted Freedom

LONDON (AP) — Archbishop Makarios was told today that the order deporting him from Cyprus had been revoked and that he can now go home.

The 45-year-old Greek Orthodox churchman, leader of the Greek-speaking Cypriots, received the news at his hotel suite in London. The British exiled him in 1956, accusing him of supporting the terrorist Greek Cypriot underground, EOKA.

The official announcement had been expected since agreement was reached last week on independence for the British island.

Carolina City Tense over Labor Dispute

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Incoming workers at two plants of the strikebound Harrier-Henderson Cotton Mills were stoned today. A union representative was beaten earlier today.

Two crowds, of about 250 men and women, gathered outside the gates of the North Henderson and South Henderson plants. At least 15 cases of stoned cars were reported.

Sheriff E. A. Cottrell said his officers had it somewhat easier with the crowd today because of highway patrol reinforcements sent in by Gov. Luther Hodges at the request of Mayor Carroll V. Singleton.

The beaten union man was Boyd Payton of Charlotte, Carolinas are representative for the Textile Workers Union of America.

Payton, who only Monday described the town as an "armed camp," was called to the door of his motel quarters shortly after midnight and struck on the head with a pop bottle.

He apparently was not seriously injured, and a hospital reported he spent a satisfactory night and rested comfortably.

James N. Roberson was arrested today outside the North Henderson plant when about 15 persons attempted to overturn a car bearing workers. Roberson was charged with simple assault.

Judiciary Panel OKs Scooter Age Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today recommended passage of a bill to restore the 16-year minimum age limit for motor scooter licenses. The vote was 15-2.

The measure requires revocation of all licenses for youngsters under age 16 upon enactment.

Seaton To Be Honored

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton will receive an honorary degree from Miami University here Thursday as part of the university's sesquicentennial observance.

County Quartet To Participate In Folk Festival

Judy Hinton and Mary Ellen Downs, Jackson Twp. High School, and Nancy Wilson and Patty Moats, Pickaway Twp. High School, will participate in the annual Ohio Folk Festival, Wilmington College, Friday through Sunday.

After intensive rehearsals Saturday and Sunday morning, a concert will be presented by a chorus of 225 voices and an orchestra in the gymnasium at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Among outstanding entertainers at this year's performance will be Basil Rathbone and Percy Grainger.

Medina Freeway Talks Slated in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—State officials meet today with Cleveland and Cuyahoga County officials to talk over three possible routes for the proposed Medina freeway after it leaves the U. S. 42 interchange of the Ohio turnpike, running northward. Originally, the freeway was to be constructed through Royalton, Parma and Parma Heights. Studies to a location to the west of this line were begun after former Gov. C. William O'Neill ordered a new route for the freeway last October.

65 Congressman Hire Own Kinsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty-five members of the House of Representatives had relatives or employees with the same family name on their January payrolls.

Some of the employees are known to be wives or daughters of their employers. Some were getting the top pay rate, $13,344.62 annually, while others were getting the lowest scale, $774.73 per year.

Three representatives had on their payrolls two employees with names similar to those of their bosses.

No Clear-Cut Favorite Seen In Nominations for Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The spotlight was on the ladies today in Hollywood's annual carnival of Oscars.

For the first time in years, there was no clear-cut favorite among the nominees for top actress. Not a tinted hair separates these five:

Elizabeth Taylor (Cat on a Hot Tin Roof); Susan Hayward (I Want to Live!); Deborah Kerr (Separate Tables); Shirley MacLaine (Some Came Running); and Rosalind Russell (Auntie Mame).

With the men, the story is different. David Niven and Spencer Tracy were established as odds-on favorites with Niven given a slight edge in the early betting.

Niven was nominated for his role as the pathetic woman molester in "Separate Tables" and Tracy, up for his third Oscar, was nominated for his one man

6 Sisters Lose 6 Braids of Hair

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Six braids of hair, to be preserved in scrapbooks, are all that remain today of the long tresses worn until Saturday by the six Talbot sisters.

A mass cutting snipped away a total of 12 feet of hair from the heads of Freda, 6; Patty, 8; Margaret, 11; Theresa, 13; Gertrude, 15; and Delia, 18. And were they glad!

Mrs. Anthony Talbot, their mother, reported it saves a lot of time in the morning when they are getting ready for school.

Unimpressed by the sudden change in their sisters' appearances are the three Talbot boys. "What's so unusual about getting your hair cut?" asked one. "We get ours cut once a month."

show in "The Old Man and the Sea."

Tony Curtis and Sidney Poitier, who went through "The Defiant Ones" handcuffed to each other, are expected to cancel each other out of the running by their well matched performances.

The fifth male nominee is Paul Newman for "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

"Gigi," already winner of awards from the Screen Producers Guild and the Screen Directors Guild, is expected to repeat in the Academy Awards as best picture come April 6.

But competition from the other nominees will be stiff. They are "Auntie Mame"; "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof"; "The Defiant Ones"; and "Separate Tables."

In the supporting categories, the nominees for the men are: Theodore Bikel (The Defiant Ones); Lee J. Cobb (The Brothers Karamazov); Burl Ives (The Big Country); Arthur Kennedy (Some Came Running); Maureen Stapleton (Lonely Hearts); and Gig Young (Teacher's Pet).

The supporting actress nominees are Peggy Cass (Auntie Mame); Wendy Hiller (Separate Tables); Martha Hyer (Some Came Running); Maureen Stapleton (Lonely Hearts); and Cara Williams (The Defiant Ones).

Canadian Police Cool On 'Copter Patrols'

TORONTO (AP)—Canada's biggest city has rejected a suggestion that helicopters be used to control traffic.

Toronto Traffic Director Sam Cass said experience in the United States has shown the helicopters overhead result in more accidents and traffic tieups. Motorists tend to gape at them.

Sir Winston Looks Ahead

Though Sir Winston Churchill is secluded now from the official flow of world information, his most recent summation of the international prospect is interesting because of his vast knowledge of how nations function. It is made in a one-volume abridgement of his six-volume history of "The Second World War."

Admitting his conclusion is based on both hope and conviction, Sir Winston ventures the opinion that a nuclear war of extermination will be postponed indefinitely if the non-communist nations preserve their unity and if the communist nations make gains that assure their nations higher standards of living.

The Briton takes a dig at America by expressing disappointment in what he regards the failure of the U. S. to comprehend the aims of the Soviet Union during and after World War II. The U. S. seemed unconscious, he says, of the advances Moscow was making in East Europe by military power and threats. But that is now a closed chapter, and the future is to be faced.

Recognizing that quarrels between nations, continents and federations will continue, human society will grow in many forms and the end result of growth will be a stiffening of the human will against wars of extermination.

"As long, therefore, as the free world holds together, and especially Britain and the United States, and maintains its strength, Russia will find that peace and plenty have more to offer than exterminatory war," Churchill concludes.

It is well to keep this point of view in mind as Moscow gets to huffing, puffing and threatening dire consequences for everybody in the way of red ambitions.

No King for Spain

According to Generalissimo Francisco Franco, there can be no "restoration" of a monarchy during his lifetime because Spain already is a "monarchy."

By that stretch of semantics, Dictator Franco has confounded those Spanish monarchists who have been importuning him for permission to conduct a sort of public relations campaign on behalf of Prince Don Juan, the heir-apparent.

The monarchists thought they were on firm ground. Only last spring General Franco had announced that when he left office, his own plans called for an "orderly succession" to a "traditional and representative monarchy."

Where the monarchists erred, it seems, was in assuming that the Caudillo would "leave office" before he departed this world. Now they have been set straight: While Franco rules, there will be no king, nor any political build-up on behalf of a royal candidate.

The Spanish dictator thus squelches even the monarchists whom he has more or less tolerated because of their personal wealth and high social position. As for the masses, unrest is reported to be growing, but it has yet to become an organized threat to the regime.

U. S. presence in Spain, where this nation has hundreds of millions invested in bases, is assured only by agreement with General Franco, not with a "representative" Spanish government because none such now exists.

Some men want success so much that they are willing to work for it.

Canadian Views Differ

By George Sokolsky

Although Canada is growing in population and wealth, it is not growing fast enough to overtake the United States. In fact, its population is only a million or so larger than New York State despite its territory being as large as the United States. The Canadians enjoy giving the impression of enormous independence of the United States which is neither geographically nor economically possible.

E. D. Fulton, Minister of Justice of Canada, came here recently to address the Anti-Trust Section of the New York State Bar Association. His speech is of considerable significance because of the divergent views of the two countries concerning trusts, cartels, subsidiaries, and stock-selling firms.

Although Canada is opposed to monopolies in restraint of trade, it has tolerated export cartels particularly as they affect the United States. And although Fulton says that Canada does not favor price-fixing, his statement is not confirmed by experiences in the paper and whisky markets. And although Canada does not desire to see Americans swindled by Canadian phony stocks, the fact is that such stocks have been sold to Americans.

With great politeness and a scholarly approach, Fulton made the point:

"Now it is accepted, of course, that in certain cases the courts of one country will direct decrees to persons within their territorial jurisdiction which will have effects beyond such jurisdiction, and will assume jurisdiction in respect to certain activities taking place beyond such territorial jurisdiction. Nevertheless, the degree to which, and the purposes for which, the extra-territorial application of the anti-trust laws has for some time now been asserted, is causing serious misgivings in a number of countries friendly to the United States, including Canada."

What this means, in effect, is that if an American company invests its capital in Canada, providing work for Canadians and even buying its raw materials there, the Canadians resent the American company having the right to determine the policy of its own subsidiaries.

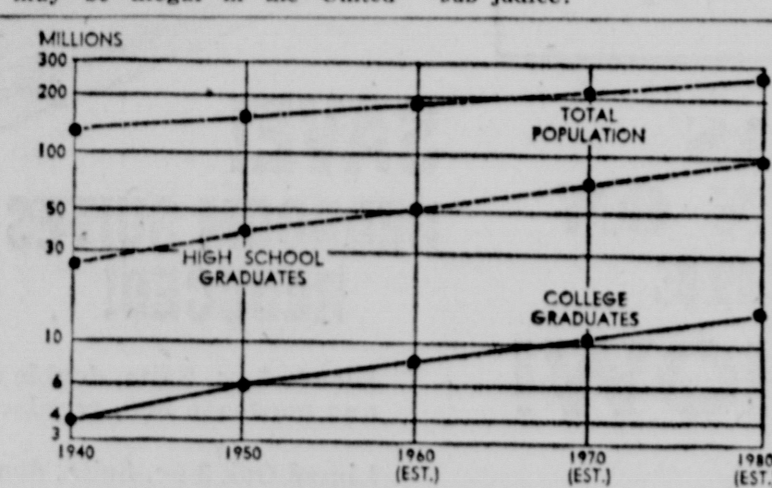

The case which Fulton cited is an action brought against General Electric, Westinghouse and N. V. Philips Company in New York charging a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The alleged violation is that these companies through their subsidiaries in Canada have joined with Canadian companies in a patent pool and that the patent pool is, in effect, a cartel in restraint of trade. Involved is commerce between the United States and Canada.

Canadian Minister of Justice Fulton said: "Needless to say, the real issue, for us, in an anti-trust case such as this launched in the United States, is not the merits or defects of the institutions or arrangements in Canada which the case seeks to alter. It is rather that in important aspects such cases appear to be directed against arrangements entered into by Canadian companies in Canada which are matters of Canadian commerce governed by Canadian Laws including the anti-combines legislation and the patent legislation."

But are these Canadian companies? Actually, some of them—the principal ones—are American companies. The American courts will have to decide whether an American-owned company may establish a wholly-owned subsidiary in a foreign country and through such a subsidiary engage in practices which are legal in the foreign country but may be illegal in the United States.

MORE OF US ARE LEARNING—The shortage of teachers and schools is emphasized by this chart from the National Industrial Conference board, New York. Projected to 1980, it shows that nearly 55 per cent of the population will be high school graduates (which includes college graduates), and college grad figure will nearly double. (Central Press)

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MIKE CONNOLLY wires that a songwriter was just awarded twenty thousand bucks because some ingrate popped him one on the jaw and, clutching the check in his hot and heavy hand, promptly wrote a new song to celebrate his victory. The name of the song, of course, is "Every Clout Has a Silver Lining."

In the fur department of a fashionable shop a stout lady tried on an expensive mink coat, and admired herself ungrudgingly in the mirror. She was then overheard imploring the saleslady, "When my husband hates it, will you give me your sacred word of honor the store will refuse to take it back for credit?"

Are You an Alcoholic?

So you like to take a little drink now and then?

Okay, most doctors agree there is, as a rule, nothing wrong with that. A reasonable amount of alcohol will help you to relax.

But if you drink and drink and drink, you probably will be on your way to real trouble.

One of the biggest problems is to get an alcoholic person to recognize the fact that he is an alcoholic. His friends will know it, his family will know it, but the drinker himself generally will refuse to admit his status.

How, then, can you tell if you are a problem drinker? Dr. Marvin A. Block, the efficient chairman of the committee on alcoholism of the American Medical Association's Council on Mental Health, has devised a series of questions which will help you find the answer.

Be honest with yourself; answer each question truthfully. As a rule, do you drink alone? Do you always feel the need for a drink at a definite time of the day?

Do you go on frequent drinking sprees?

Do you take a drink the first thing every morning?

Do you lose time from work because of drinking or does it interfere with your efficiency or with your responsibilities?

Do you ever have periods of loss of memory or blackouts, times when you cannot remember what happened after drinking too much?

Now look back over your answers. If you have answered even a single one of them "Yes," you may be beginning to have a problem with your drinking.

If you answered "Yes" to more than one, you may be a beginning problem drinker right now.

Whether anyone progresses from a problem drinker to an actual alcoholic depends upon how much he drinks and why he does it. Even the problem drinker at times recognizes when he has had too much and is able to stop.

He may deliberately get drunk to celebrate a special occasion or to drown his sorrows, so to speak, over some unfortunate occurrence. The alcoholic gets drunk, too. He doesn't start out to get inebriated, but he almost always does. An alcoholic, you see, drinks compulsively.

So better watch your step, or, more appropriate, your drinks.

Question and Answer

Question: Is there a cure for shingles? I have had them for two years.

Answer: The eruption of shingles does not ordinarily last for more than a few weeks, but the pain may persist for a long time. Treatment with radiation, X-ray or injections, will usually bring relief.

TV Afraid of New Talent?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If the faces you see on television seem terribly familiar, there's a reason. "Television is badly in need of fresh faces," said Merv Griffin. "But everybody's afraid to gamble on new talent."

Griffin, singing emcee, feels the industry needs to develop a system by which it can uncover and help mature outstanding young entertainers.

"There is no sure way today for promising performers to be discovered," he said. "It's harder than ever for great instrumentalists, for example, to get started. There must be some Artie Shaws and Benny Goodman of tomorrow around, but they're unrecognized."

"The colleges in particular are being overlooked. They produce concert artists, but why don't they turn out more entertainers in the field of popular music?"

Merv himself quit college in 1945 at the age of 18 to take a $1150-a-week job singing on a San Francisco radio station. "I figured that with that kind of money I could buy the university in a couple of years, and issue myself any diplomas I needed," he recalled, smiling. Three years later he quit to tour with Freddie Martin's band at only $150 a week.

"Everybody thought I was crazy to take a $1,000 weekly pay cut," he said. "But I wanted to see the country, and I didn't want to spend my life as a one-town performer."

Griffin spent four years on the road, made a top-hit record, three pictures in Hollywood, had his own radio variety show and did a night club stint with Tallulah Bankhead.

"A touring dance band is the greatest training school in the world for a singer," he said. "One night you're singing in a Pennsylvania night club; the next night you're opening at the Waldorf."

"You learn how to please any kind of audience. You learn what music has universal appeal. "Where can you get that kind of training now? The bands don't play around so much today."

Griffin thinks the discovery of fresh talent today is largely a hit-or-miss matter.

"A kid runs out and makes a record, rolls it to the nearest company. They usually toss it into the wastebasket," he said. "But suppose they do put it out and it becomes an overnight hit. The kid usually dies overnight, too. Very few last. They don't get the training."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat who reportedly does 50 push-ups a day to keep in condition and who once won a boxing championship at Yale, has taken on a political heavyweight: Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

In the Senate, some take the attitude that everybody loves Lyndon and Lyndon loves everybody. The tall Texan is the leader of the Senate Democrats, and tries to shepherd them around like a big, happy family.

So when Proxmire, 43, laced into Johnson, 51, Monday it was like hearing a lieutenant tell the general he was getting too big for his britches.

His complaint in effect was that Johnson handles the Senate Democrats unbecomingly. Proxmire said Johnson runs the party's program in the Senate without consulting the other Democrats.

"The typical Democratic senator has literally nothing to do with determining the legislative program and policies of this party in the Senate," he said.

Proxmire, who won the Senate seat of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy in 1957 and then won reelection to a full six-year term last year, demanded that the 64 Democratic senators be called together for a conference or caucus before major party decisions.

Dynamited Dike Lets Flood Flow Back into River

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Water which covered some 33,000 acres of Illinois farm land is draining back into the Wabash River through a dynamited breach in a clay dike.

The farm land was flooded Wednesday when the swollen Wabash burst through the levee near Russellville, about 10 miles upstream.

Farmers blasted a 100-foot long hole in the dike Saturday. The breach is on the east side of the river, across the Wabash from Vincennes, Ind. Farmers said the flow from the fields did not raise the river level, although it did slow recession of flood levels downstream.

Commissioners of the Russell-Alison Drainage District said they had consented to the dynamiting of the dike, which had been built to prevent such floods.

Sir Winston Looks Ahead

Though Sir Winston Churchill is secluded now from the official flow of world information, his most recent summation of the international prospect is interesting because of his vast knowledge of how nations function. It is made in a one-volume abridgement of his six-volume history of "The Second World War."

Admitting his conclusion is based on both hope and conviction, Sir Winston ventures the opinion that a nuclear war of extermination will be postponed indefinitely if the non-communist nations preserve their unity and if the communist nations make gains that assure their nations higher standards of living.

The Briton takes a dig at America by expressing disappointment in what he regards the failure of the U. S. to comprehend the aims of the Soviet Union during and after World War II. The U. S. seemed unconscious, he says, of the advances Moscow was making in East Europe by military power and threats. But that is now a closed chapter, and the future is to be faced.

Recognizing that quarrels between nations, continents and federations will continue, human society will grow in many forms and the end result of growth will be a stiffening of the human will against wars of extermination.

"As long, therefore, as the free world holds together, and especially Britain and the United States, and maintains its strength, Russia will find that peace and plenty have more to offer than exterminatory war," Churchill concludes.

It is well to keep this point of view in mind as Moscow gets to huffing, puffing and threatening dire consequences for everybody in the way of red ambitions.

No King for Spain

According to Generalissimo Francisco Franco, there can be no "restoration" of a monarchy during his lifetime because Spain already is a "monarchy."

By that stretch of semantics, Dictator Franco has confounded those Spanish monarchists who have been importuning him for permission to conduct a sort of public relations campaign on behalf of Prince Don Juan, the heir-apparent.

The monarchists thought they were on firm ground. Only last spring General Franco had announced that when he left office, his own plans called for an "orderly succession" to a "traditional and representative monarchy."

Where the monarchists erred, it seems, was in assuming that the Caudillo would "leave office" before he departed this world. Now they have been set straight: While Franco rules, there will be no king, nor any political build-up on behalf of a royal candidate.

The Spanish dictator thus squelches even the monarchists whom he has more or less tolerated because of their personal wealth and high social position. As for the masses, unrest is reported to be growing, but it has yet to become an organized threat to the regime.

U. S. presence in Spain, where this nation has hundreds of millions invested in bases, is assured only by agreement with General Franco, not with a "representative" Spanish government because none such now exists.

up the majority leader more than any other senator."

Proxmire, who considers himself a liberal, acknowledged having said many nice things about Johnson. Neuberger also considers himself a liberal.

Apparently the whole Democratic chain of command in the Senate has been irritating Proxmire. He was an Army lieutenant in World War II and, in length of Senate service, is still a lieutenant compared with the power that goes to oldtimers.

Senate plums—that is, committee chairmanships—are handed out not on the basis of ability but on length of service.

They go to those senators who manage to get re-elected often enough to outlast all those ahead of them on a committee. They then get the chairmanship automatically.

This is called the seniority system. On Feb. 2 Proxmire called on the Senate to abolish this system.

Proxmire isn't apt to make much of a dent in the way Johnson runs things. Other men before Proxmire have complained bitterly about the seniority system but the system has outlasted all of them.

Canadian Views Differ

By George Sokolsky

Although Canada is growing in population and wealth, it is not growing fast enough to overtake the United States. In fact, its population is only a million or so larger than New York State despite its territory being as large as the United States. The Canadians enjoy giving the impression of enormous independence of the United States which is neither geographically nor economically possible.

E. D. Fulton, Minister of Justice of Canada, came here recently to address the Anti-Trust Section of the New York State Bar Association. His speech is of considerable significance because of the divergent views of the two countries concerning trusts, cartels, subsidiaries, and stock-selling firms.

Although Canada is opposed to monopolies in restraint of trade, it has tolerated export cartels particularly as they affect the United States. And although Fulton says that Canada does not favor price-fixing, his statement is not confirmed by experiences in the paper and whisky markets. And although Canada does not desire to see Americans swindled by Canadian phony stocks, the fact is that such stocks have been sold to Americans.

With great politeness and a scholarly approach, Fulton made the point:

"Now it is accepted, of course, that in certain cases the courts of one country will direct decrees to persons within their territorial jurisdiction which will have effects beyond such jurisdiction, and will assume jurisdiction in respect to certain activities taking place beyond such territorial jurisdiction. Nevertheless, the degree to which, and the purposes for which, the extra-territorial application of the anti-trust laws has for some time now been asserted, is causing serious misgivings in a number of countries friendly to the United States, including Canada."

What this means, in effect, is that if an American company invests its capital in Canada, providing work for Canadians and even buying its raw materials there, the Canadians resent the American company having the right to determine the policy of its own subsidiaries.

The case which Fulton cited is an action brought against General Electric, Westinghouse and N. V. Philips Company in New York charging a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The alleged violation is that these companies through their subsidiaries in Canada have joined with Canadian companies in a patent pool and that the patent pool is, in effect, a cartel in restraint of trade. Involved is commerce between the United States and Canada.

Canadian Minister of Justice Fulton said: "Needless to say, the real issue, for us, in an anti-trust case such as this launched in the United States, is not the merits or defects of the institutions or arrangements in Canada which the case seeks to alter. It is rather that in important aspects such cases appear to be directed against arrangements entered into by Canadian companies in Canada which are matters of Canadian commerce governed by Canadian laws including the anti-combines legislation and the patent legislation."

But are these Canadian companies? Actually, some of them—the principal ones—are American companies. The American courts will have to decide whether an American-owned company may establish a wholly-owned subsidiary in a foreign country and through such a subsidiary engage in practices which are legal in the foreign country but may be illegal in the United States.

It is an interesting legal question. Of this Fulton said:

"Our specific objections to an action such as this are threefold: That it is concerned not so much with strict compliance with United States laws in the United States as it is concerned with actions in Canada of Canadian companies which actions are in accord with Canadian laws and Canadian commercial policy; that compliance with the decree sought may bring these companies in Canada into conflict with Canadian laws and policy; and thirdly that the only way effect could be given to such a decree is if American directors of U. S. companies give instructions to directors of Canadian companies to do something in Canada which is not in accord with Canadian business or commercial policy but is dictated by American policy. Nothing could more clearly illustrate the objectionable extra-territorial effect of the action taken."

But is the policy such as Fulton describes it to be and if it is, is it legal ethics for a Minister of Justice of a foreign country to come, however apologetically, before a bar association, and discuss it while it is still sub judice?

MORE OF US ARE LEARNING—The shortage of teachers and schools is emphasized by this chart from the National Industrial Conference Board, New York. Projected to 1980, it shows that nearly 55 per cent of the population will be high school graduates (which includes college graduates), and college grad figure will nearly double. (Central Press)

Those attending were from Columbus, Lockbourne, Lancaster, Amanda, Canal Winchester, Washington C. H., Chillicothe, Laurelville, Stoutsville, Circleville, South Salem, Ashville and Walnut Twp. area.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Anna M. Hedges, Mrs. J. B. Cromley and Mrs. William H. Scythorn. The Misses Beverly Scythorn, Norma Spires, Sharon Dorn and Janet Schneider were in charge of registration and ushering.

The President of the Society, Mrs. Donald B. Collins extended a cordial welcome to those assembled, then presented Mrs. Homer Reber who had arranged the following program:

Prayer offered by Mrs. Virgil Close. Girls of the junior choir, Kay Hay, Kathy Beers, Anne Peters, Nancy Collins, Janie Hay, Bonnie Beers, Patty Collins, Patti Barr, Karen Duval, Nancy Hines, Irene and Arlene Putney, under the direction of Mrs. David Dill sang "Jacob's Ladder." Mrs. Martin Cromley was the accompanist.

Mrs. Annette Bandy, the vocal musical instructor, at Walnut Twp. School presented a group of vocal selections, "The Organ Grinder," by Schubert; "Rain" by Hindemith; "The Heart Worship" by Gustav Holst and "If with all Your Heart" by Mendelssohn. Mrs. Fred Call Jr. was the accompanist.

A clarinet quartet from the Walnut Twp. school composed of Susan Hoffines, Lynn Noecker, Patty Collins and Jackie Lindsay, played two selections "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" and a special arrangement for the clarinet, "The Metta Larks sang two numbers, "Spossin" and "Bye Bye Blues." The women composing this quartet are: Mrs. David Dill, Mrs. Chester Peters, Mrs. Neil Barr and Mrs. Boyd Fosnaugh.

Mrs. Paul Johnson, Circleville, speaker for the afternoon, reviewed the life of "Victor Hurlbert," it being the centennial anniversary of his birthday on Feb. 1.

Mrs. Ralph Dunkel, with her daughter Kathy, presented "Toyland," by Victor Hurlbert. They were accompanied by Mrs. Cromley. Concluding the program was a ladies chorus directed by Mrs. Dunkel and accompanied by Mrs. Cromley, presented two songs by Victor Hurlbert, "Kiss in the Dark" and "Italian Street Song."

Members of the chorus were: Mrs. Virgil Close, Mrs. Dill, Mrs. Everett Beers, Mrs. Dorwin Hay, Mrs. Harold Hines, Mrs. Harold Hall, Mrs. William Wharton, Mrs. Neil Barr, Mrs. Charles Hines, Mrs. Wayne Hines, Mrs. Joe Hedges, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. John M. Brinker, Mrs. Mary Schneider, Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Chester Peters, Mrs. Boyd Fosnaugh, Miss Sharon Dorn, Miss Janet Schneider and Miss Norma Spires.

Mrs. Martin Cromley played a number of organ selections by Victor Hurlbert, while the guests were invited to the dining room.

Mrs. Judd Dresbach and Mrs. Warner Hedges presided at the tea table, which was decorated by Mrs. J. L. Frazier and Mrs. Martin Cromley, using patriotic colors in an arrangement in milk glass. Mrs. J. B. Cromley was donor of the flowers for the tea table.

Mrs. Anna M. Hedges gave the flowers for the altar arrangements of white carnations and white stocks, in memory of her husband, John N. Hedges, whose birthday anniversary was Feb. 21.

The serving committee was Miss Florence Brown, chairman, Mrs. Alva May, Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. Cromley, Mrs. Warner Hedges, Mrs. Lawrence Heffner, Mrs. Renie Sowers, Mrs. Dorwin Hay, Mrs. Ralph Dunkel and Mrs. Collins.

The local church committee was Mrs. Reber, Mrs. Carl Scythorn, Mrs. Louis Koch, Mrs. Ray Heffner, Mrs. Myrtle Hines, Mrs. Arthur Sark, Mrs. Howard Norris, Mrs. John M. Brinker, Mrs. Harold Hall and Miss Harriet Weaver.

Dr. Carroll Speaker for Nurses Assn.

The Practical Nurses Assn. met Friday evening in Dr. Ray Carroll's office with 12 members and three guests Miss Margaret Goode, Mrs. Evelyn Hoby and Mrs. Anna Momky.

The meeting was opened with devotions by the president, Mrs. Francine Peters, in the absence of Mrs. Anna Gardner, the chaplain.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation of the gavel to Mrs. Peters by Mrs. Frances Evans. Mrs. Evans gave the meaning of G-A-V-E-L.

As Dr. Carroll could not obtain the film on cancer, he gave an interesting talk on the subject. A question and answer period followed.

The Assn. made plans for their trip to the Children's Home in March.

The group was then invited to the home of Mrs. Janet Jones for refreshments. Mrs. Mary Fissell was the assisting hostess.

The next meeting will be held on March 20.

Spring Luncheon Fashion Show

Child Conservation League program committee reminds the members to have their reservations for the Guest Day Spring Luncheon and Children's Fashion Show in by Friday February 27th.

The spring luncheon and fashion show will be held at 1 p. m. Tuesday, March 3rd, in the Pickaway Arms Restaurant.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. George Young, phone GR 4-3820, Mrs. Walter Ehmling, phone GR 4-5804 or Mrs. Emory Ridlon, GR 4-5353.

Elks Lodge Schedules All County Prom

Circleville Elks Lodge announced today that it had contracted with the Dick Welch Orchestra to provide music for the annual All County Prom scheduled for May 8.

Walter Ehmling, chairman of the lodge's Youth Activities Committee, said the affair would be held in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

All junior and senior classmen from all high schools in Pickaway County will be invited to attend the affair, now considered to be the highlight of the school social season at year's end.

Many of the schools in the county system schedule their annual junior-senior banquets to coincide with the All County Prom.

Ehmling said that the Dick Welch band had proved to be the most popular musical organization in this area among the teenagers. The same orchestra appeared at the 1958 All County Prom.

During an intermission at the dance, the lodge will present awards to county winners of the Elks Youth Leadership Contest. They are Nancy Wilson of Pickaway Twp. High School and Cal Ellis of Circleville High School. Each will receive a $25 government bond. Miss Wilson's entry also has been declared winner of the Elks district contest and is now being judged for state honors. Both Miss Wilson and Ellis are to be guests of the Ohio Elks Assn. in Columbus May 2 when district and state winners will receive their awards.

Modern Ladies' Shoes Make "Wobbling Winnies," Claim

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
We're producing a new generation of "wobbling Winnies" in shoes with needle toes and stiletto heels, says Dr. H. L. Collins of Columbus, Ohio director of public education for the American Podiatry Assn. and a podiatrist and foot surgeon for 27 years.

"If older women want to wear these precarious shoes, that's up to them," says Dr. Collins. "But we foot specialists are alarmed about what the current shoe styles are doing to teen-agers' feet."

"Young feet are not yet set in their shape, and young girls haven't learned how to walk in these pointed, high-heeled shoes without wobbling. They are developing bunions, ingrown toenails and foot infections."

On the other side of the fence are numerous shoe designers and foot health experts who contend that the tapered toe is well adapted to the shape of the normal foot. A recent survey by the American Foot Care Institute, for instance, reports that a well-fitted tapered-toe shoe causes no discomfort, fatigue or foot ailments.

Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, chairman of the National Foot Health Council, shares these views.

"If shoes are big enough and carefully fitted, there is no reason why they should cause foot damage or discomfort," he says.

Dr. Collins, however, insists that toes should have "wiggly room," and says the currently popular stiletto heels not only are dangerous, but are unbecoming.

"When a girl teeters along on these thin, high heels, she throws her posture out of line," he says.

This outspoken critic of fashion also reports that the incidence of sprained or fractured ankles has increased 30 to 40 per cent since the very high, spike heels became fashionable.

For all-day wear he advises low or medium heels, and adds: "Use extreme shoe styles as you do dessert in your diet."

Pacifist Asks No Help In Fine Payment

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Rev. Maurice McCrackin, Cincinnati's Pacifist minister, says he hopes no one and no organization will pay the fine he owes the U.S. government.

The Rev. McCrackin is serving a six months sentence for his refusal to heed an internal revenue service summons in connection with his refusal to pay income taxes. He also was fined $250 when he was convicted Dec. 12.

Ernest Bromley, an associate of McCrackin, said Monday the minister's sister, Mrs. Julia Watson, had received a letter from her brother saying:

"I am as willing to pay the fine as I am to pay taxes for war. I recognize that society may exact further penalties from me for my failure to do so."

McCrackin's refusal to pay taxes stemmed from his opposition to war and the fact some tax money goes for military purposes.

"I cannot too earnestly say that I hope no one and no organization will pay my fine."

U.S. Atty. Thomas Stueve said the sentence decreed the minister should remain in jail until the fine is paid.

Bankers To Study Flood Loan Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bankers from Crawford, Putnam, Van Wert and Wood counties will meet in the Putnam County Courthouse, Ottawa, Wednesday morning to discuss special flood loans with representatives of the Small Business Administration.

The four counties recently were added to the list of counties declared disaster areas for purpose of disaster flood loans by the SBA. The addition brings to 23 the number of counties eligible for SBA loans.

Fremont Chamber Eyes Flood Control System

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—The Fremont Chamber of Commerce is studying a flood-control program for the Sandusky River, which inundated the business district and some residential areas here twice this year. Under consideration are a conservancy district which would include Sandusky, Seneca, Crawford and Wyandot Counties; dredging the river from Fremont to Sandusky Bay and construction of flood walls through Fremont.

Thursday Meeting

The Logan Elm Garden Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Donald Miller, Route 1, at 1:30 p. m. Thursday. Mrs. Laura Wilkins will be the assisting hostess.

Miss Ruth McKenzie will present a program on Herbs and their uses.

Floor Debate Seen among U.S. Lawyers

CHICAGO (AP)—A floor fight appeared likely today as the governing body of the American Bar Assn. meets to consider a resolution calling for clarification of laws dealing with internal security and communism.

The ABA's 246-member House of Delegates deferred action on the controversial resolution Monday after its opening passages were read.

The measure, approved last Saturday by the ABA Board of Governors, cites criticism of several Supreme Court decisions dealing with subversion and Communist activities in this country. While it refrains from direct attack on the high court, it asks that Congress clarify laws dealing with those subjects.

The internal security resolution has aroused widespread interest because of published news stories that similar reports prepared but never passed by the NBA House of Delegates led to the resignation from the ABA of Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States.

Mighty 'O' Tightens Grip On Score Race

Cincinnati Cager Nets 26 as Tulsa Is Defeated 92-69

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati held a firmer grip on the college basketball scoring lead today following a hectic night in which red-hot Kentucky overcame a deep freeze and Bailey Howell of Mississippi State set a Southeastern Conference scoring mark.

Robertson whipped in 36 points to lead the Bearcats to their 13th straight victory, 92-69 over Tulsa. Oscar's output was only three less than the entire Kentucky team compiled in turning back stalling Alabama 93-32.

Howell had 32 points as Mississippi State rode over Tulane 65-51. That boosted Howell's career total to 2,024 points, breaking the record of 2,002 set by Bob Pettit at Louisiana State.

Despite Robertson's performance, Cincinnati had a tough time getting past Tulsa. The Bearcats led by only three points with six minutes to go, then racked up 11 straight points to move to their 10th Missouri Valley victory against no setbacks.

Kentucky, back in the No. 1 spot in the latest Associated Press poll, was hampered by 'Bama's deliberate style and wound up in a 23-all deadlock at halftime. But the Wildcats started the second half with a nine-point scoring spurt before Alabama hit its first field goal.

Mississippi State clinched at least a tie for the Southeastern Conference title and a berth in the NCAA championships. But because of Mississippi's segregation custom, State may not take part in the tournament.

Auburn was beaten by Tennessee 56-55.

In the Big Ten, Iowa moved into sole possession of second place by defeating Purdue 66-62 as Pete Schreiber scored six points late in the game. Michigan whipped last place Wisconsin 87-63. Ohio State gained revenge for a humiliating 122-92 setback by beating Indiana 92-83 and Northwestern, holding Minnesota star Ron Johnson to 16 points, trounced the Gophers 76-62.

Ninth-ranked Bradley took a solid hold on second place in the Missouri Valley by edging Wichita 72-70. In other league games, St. Louis swept to a 70-58 triumph over North Texas State and Houston tripped Drake 77-66.

In the Big Eight, a 40-foot jump shot by Herschell Turner with five seconds left gave Nebraska a 62-61 victory over Colorado and Kansas outlasted Missouri, 85-81.

Hagan Ranks Third In Cage Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech, with 36 points against Chattanooga Monday night, has moved into third place in the race for the college basketball scoring championship.

Hagan boosted his season's average to 28.5. Bailey Howell of Mississippi State scored 32 points against Tulane but tumbled into fourth place at 28.4.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, moving toward his second straight title, had 36 points against Tulsa and lifted his percentage to 33.2. Leo Byrd of Marshall, in second place with 30.2, was idle.

Bob Lemon Gets Another Tribe Chance

TUSCON, Ariz. — Bob Lemon, who at 38 is twice as old as the youngest pitcher on the Cleveland Indians, took his turn on the mound when the Indians opened spring training here Monday.

It was no different from previous opening days during the 12 seasons in which Lemon won 207 games for the Tribe—except for one thing. This year Lemon is not on the Cleveland roster.

The former Tribe ace is a free agent, here simply by invitation, and hoping he will make the grade as a relief pitcher if not a regular starter.

Lemon had bone chips removed from his right elbow in the fall of 1957. Recovering slowly, he appeared in 11 games with the Indians last season—winning none, losing one—and early in July agreed to go back to the minors. He went to San Diego in the Pacific League where, he said, "my arm kept getting stronger."

By the end of the season I was throwing pretty well. At least, it didn't hurt. Didn't tighten up, either."

He was released by San Diego at the end of the season after winning two and losing five.

Tribe Manager Joe Gordon recalled that he "hated to ask Lem to go back to the minors, but I thought it was the best thing for him. His ball just didn't move the way it used to. It was straight as a string."

"That's the thing we've got to look for now. If Lem can throw that sinker again he'll help us—in relief, mostly. With that sinker he'd be rough for a couple of innings."

Scioto, Granville In District Play

The Scioto Buffaloes start Pickaway County's representation in the central Ohio Class A District Tournament tomorrow night at Otterbein, meeting Granville at approximately 8:30 p. m.

Scioto won the third berth to the tourney Friday by knocking off the Pickaway Pirates, 58-52, in the county's consolation game. Scioto and Granville enter the tourney with identical 15-4 records.

Granville, a perennial entrant in the district, will face Scioto with a noted fast break off a zone defense.

Brennan Denies He Was 'Fall Guy'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—St. Peter's Brennan late Monday night denied a published story that he was "the fall guy" in the Notre Dame football situation and that he is through with football coaching "because too much depends on luck."

The story with a Tampa date-line, appeared under Dick Young's byline in Tuesday morning editions of the New York Daily News.

Contacted here, the former Notre Dame football coach who was fired last Dec. 21, said: "Maybe someone else made those statements. I didn't."

"My only comment is what it's always been the decision was made by the university and it was their decision."

Nuxhall Is Sharp As Early Hitter

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Joe Nuxhall's slow start as a pitcher has plagued the Cincinnati Reds for several seasons. They're hopeful he'll do better this year but at least he's off and winging as a hitter.

Joe was the first Red to hit a ball out of the park Monday as pitchers, catchers, plus a few others and some farmhands opened the 1959 spring training season. Joe's wallop came as Manager Mayo Smith let the pitchers and catchers get started early on their hitting practice.

Smith expressed himself as well satisfied at the physical condition of his 14 pitchers and 5 catchers. "The battersmen are in fine shape with very little extra weight on any of them," he said. "Most of them are ready to get down to serious work already."

Progression Golf

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A group of officials of the Virginia State Golf Assn., here for a meeting, had a round on the links first. Bob Scott, chairman of the handicap committee, scored a hole-in-one on the 196-yard 17th at the Country Club of Virginia. Let's make it one, two three, four said Richmond's Harry Easterly and promptly placed one near the pin for an easy duce.

Jose Davila made the green and was down in two putts for his three. George Fulton's drive was bad but he was down in four.

fense. It will be led by a fast 5-6 guard named French.

He is renowned for shooting left-handed on the run and is fed constantly by a 6-4 center, who is an adept rebounder.

SCIOTO WILL counter with the likes of stellar bankboard man Ernie Milburn, and nifty guards Dickie Melvin and Terry Little.

Milburn, a consistent scorer all year, is averaging 16.4 points going into tomorrow night's game. Melvin is averaging 21.8 points a game, and Little, 10.3.

Milburn and Little practically carried Scioto during the county tournament as Melvin fell off his scoring pace and couldn't conquer the pressure.

Milburn will hold his own with any rebounder and will have help from 6-5 Jim Sealock and guard Little. If Melvin can find his scoring eye and Little continues to rack up two-pointers on rebounds and from the side, Scioto may gain the right to meet Pickerington on Friday.

Other Scioto stars who will see action are Roy Sanders, a fine side-court shooting guard; Ronnie Little, brother of Terry and a capable ball handler; Dick Kerschner, who represents good bench strength for Joe Corbett's Buffaloes, and Dick Kaiser, able replacement for Sealock.

GRANVILLE IS 1-2 against Class AA competition and 14-2 battling Class A teams. Scioto has met no Class AA schools.

Toughest obstacle for any Pickaway team to overcome at Otterbein will be the glass bankboards and large floor. All three county teams will need a bit of luck to get past their first tournament game on a roomy and excellent basketball court.

Another handicap is the fact that several of the entrants at the Otterbein tourney played their county tournaments on the same floor, such as Columbus Rosary, Columbus St. Marys and Scioto's opponent, Granville.

This fact has perturbed county coaches for years for its unfairness because it gives previous participants tournament action on the district court, a great advantage.

Nevertheless, Pickaway County will be well represented at Otterbein, handicap or no handicap, and any victories brought home will be well deserved and earned.

Kentucky '5' Back on Top Of Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky, a team that gets up when the chips are down, is back in the No. 1 spot in the national college basketball rankings.

The 1958 National Collegiate champions turned in a couple of important victories last week to regain first place in The Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers and broadcasters which they had lost when they dropped a game to Mississippi State two weeks ago.

First they belted Vanderbilt 83-71 to wipe out their first defeat of the season, then they handed Auburn its first defeat, 65-56.

Although Kentucky is only third in the Southeastern Conference, those victories kept alive the Wildcats' hopes of again getting into the NCAA tournament, which they won last year.

Kentucky got some aid from an unexpected source in returning to the top. North Carolina, leader in last week's poll, got past its toughest rival, North Carolina State, then stumbled and lost to Maryland 69-51. That dropped the Tar Heels to third in the rankings behind Kentucky and Kansas State. Auburn, second a week ago, slipped to sixth after losing to Kentucky.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. Kentucky (35) 822
 2. Kansas State (24) 737
 3. North Carolina (12) 603
 4. Cincinnati (7) 598
 5. Mississippi State (14) 556
 6. Auburn (1) 451
 7. North Carolina State (1) 427
 8. Michigan State 349
 9. Bradley (2) 256
 10. West Virginia (3) 146
- The second ten: St. Louis 115; California 88; Marquette (1) 81; Texas Christian 70; Oklahoma City 58; Seattle 47; St. John's (N.Y.) 41; St. Bonaventure 38; Portland 35; St. Mary's (Calif.) 17.

Trots Fail Here

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Harness racing at the Wisconsin State Fair has been finishing out of the money, and fair manager W. M. Masterson has recommended it be ruled off the track.

The largest attendance in the three-day program last summer was 8,000 on the third day. But admission was free and there also was a Dairy Day program for grandstand visitors. Paid attendance the other two days totaled 2,582.

Calumet Back Again

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Calumet Farm, owned by Mrs. Gene Markey, will seek its fourth straight Hialeah title this winter. The Lexington stable set a Florida record at the 1956 meeting, winning $251,450.

Case Tech Uses Electronics In Building Cage Combine

CLEVELAND (AP)—Case Institute of Technology is parlaying its electronic know-how into a pretty good basketball season.

A year ago the Rough Riders won 5 and lost 10, averaging 61.5 points to 68.9 for the foe. This year the record is 12 wins and 2 losses, with a scoring advantage of 73.2 to 64.2—a turnover of 16.3 points in favor of Coach Phillip (Nip) Heim's boys.

Some new sophomore talent has helped in the changing picture, but also getting some of the credit are a staff of mathematics majors, an IBM Computer and Univac.

Headed by student manager Don Knuth of Milwaukee, a team of figure-fiberists puts a cold, mathematical eye on every player in every game.

Among items jotted down are the number of minutes played, the long, medium and short shots taken, the baskets scored from each distance, fouls made, free throws converted, offensive and defensive rebounds, the fumbles, poor passes etc.

Every player's every move is recorded on punched cards, and the computers evaluate the performances.

"Primary value of the system," Heim said, "is the opportunity it affords to begin polishing a man on his weak points the day after the game. The results often influence decisions on just which boys will play on a given night."

Heim, a graduate of Mt. Union where he played on two Ohio Conference championship quintets, formerly coached at Alliance and Canal Fulton high schools.

Heim said the game-by-game data in its cumulative aspect gives him his ideal starting lineup—but he admits there are some flaws which can't be computed. The punched cards cannot predict or evaluate attitude.

The Rough Rider mentor said several times his staff of mathematics experts had indicated a certain boy was best for a starting job, but that he didn't pan out. "Maybe he was worried about a test, or was 'off his feed' for some reason," Heim said. He believes a coach's discerning eye in such situations cannot be replaced by cold figures.

Olmedo Says Savitt Provides Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—"That Savitt," murmured National Indoor Tennis Champion Alex Olmedo today, "he is a very tough fellow."

"Those balls he hits are so hard to follow when you play him indoors."

But Olmedo, the Peruvian-born ace of the American Davis Cup team, saw "those balls" enough to defeat Savitt 7-9, 6-3, 4-6, 5-7, 12-10 Monday in the final of the National Indoor Tournament.

"Now," continued Olmedo, "I am going back to school at Southern California."

"I have no big plans. Naturally, I'll play all the tennis I can during the summer. But I'll decide when and where I play, no one else (referring to Davis Cup Capt. Perry Jones).

Lew Hoad Trips Mighty Gonzales

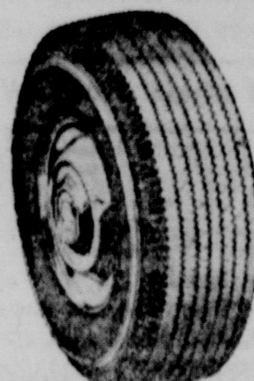

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lew Hoad defeated Pancho Gonzales, world professional champion, in a tight tennis serving duel Monday night, 6-4, 12-10.

Hoad, former amateur champion, outscored Gonzales and was lightning fast at the net, cutting off many of Gonzales' shots.

In the other match played in Jack Kramer's pro tennis tour, Ashley Cooper, world amateur champion, defeated Australian Mel Anderson, 6-4, 12-10.

Mighty 'O' Tightens Grip On Score Race

Cincinnati Cager Nets 26 as Tulsa Is Defeated 92-69

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati held a firmer grip on the college basketball scoring lead today following a hectic night in which red hot Kentucky overcame a deep freeze and Bailey Howell of Mississippi State set a Southeastern Conference scoring mark.

Robertson whipped in 36 points to lead the Bearcats to their 13th straight victory, 92-69 over Tulsa. Oscar's output was only three less than the entire Kentucky team compiled in turning back stalling Alabama 39-32.

Howell had 32 points as Mississippi State rode over Tulane 65-51. That boosted Howell's career total to 2,024 points, breaking the record of 2,002 set by Bob Pettit at Louisiana State.

Despite Robertson's performance, Cincinnati had a tough time getting past Tulsa. The Bearcats led by only three points with six minutes to go, then racked up 11 straight points to move to their 10th Missouri Valley victory against no setbacks.

Kentucky, back in the No. 1 spot in the latest Associated Press poll, was hampered by 'Bama's deliberate style and wound up in a 23-all deadlock at halftime. But the Wildcats started the second half with a nine-point scoring spurt before Alabama hit its first field goal.

Mississippi State clinched at least a tie for the Southeastern Conference title and a berth in the NCAA championships. But because of Mississippi's segregation custom, State may not take part in the tournament.

Auburn was beaten by Tennessee 36-55.

In the Big Ten, Iowa moved into sole possession of second place by defeating Purdue 66-62 as Pete Schehler scored six points late in the game. Michigan whipped last place Wisconsin 87-63. Ohio State gained revenge for a humiliating 122-92 setback by beating Indiana 92-83 and Northwestern, holding Minnesota star Ron Johnson to 16 points, trounced the Gophers 79-62.

Both school heads explained the difficult financial situation faced by the CHS athletic board, an indication that supporting a junior high grid team would present a problem at the present time.

HARTMAN and Henry both commended the Booster Club for its excellent sports-backing activities here. They pointed out that their reports were intended to present the facts, not force a negative or positive decision concerning junior high football.

The junior high grid idea has been a growing project for discussion in the Booster Club for the last several months. Many club members are confident that the program can be carried out here once a ways and means plan can be worked out.

Following a timeout for coffee and doughnuts, Booster President David Crawford opened the meeting for general discussion. Many questions, suggestions and possible solutions concerning junior high football were aired by the assembled group.

Charles Hart, veteran Booster member, spoke out in favor of the junior grid program, explaining its value to CHS athletics as well as furnishing a recreational program for pre-high school students here. President Crawford urged all Boosters to consider the new program, with the goal of coming up with ideas and suggestions.

Prior to the discussion, Coach Tom Bennett presented a film covering the CHS-Washington C. H. football game in 1949.

Scioto, Granville In District Play

The Scioto Buffaloes start Pickaway County's representation in the central Ohio Class A District Tournament tomorrow night at Otterbein, meeting Granville at approximately 8:30 p. m.

Scioto won the third berth to the tourney Friday by knocking off the Pickaway Pirates, 58-52, in the county's consolation game. Scioto and Granville enter the tourney with identical 15-4 records.

Granville, a perennial entrant in the district, will face Scioto with a noted fast break off a zone defense. It will be led by a fast 5-6 guard named French.

He is renowned for shooting left-handed on the run and is fed constantly by a 6-4 center, who is an adept rebounder.

SCIOTO WILL counter with the likes of stellar bankboard man Ernie Milburn, and nifty guards Dickie Melvin and Terry Little.

Milburn, a consistent scorer all year, is averaging 16.4 points going into tomorrow night's game. Melvin is averaging 21.8 points a game, and Little, 10.3.

Milburn and Little practically carried Scioto during the county tournament as Melvin fell off his scoring pace and couldn't conquer the pressure.

Milburn will hold his own with any rebounder and will have help from 6-5 Jim Sealock and guard Little. If Melvin can find his scoring eye and Little continues to rack up two-pointers on rebounds and from the side, Scioto may gain the right to meet Pickerington on Friday.

Other Scioto stars who will see action are Roy Sanders, a fine side-court shooting guard; Ronnie Little, brother of Terry and a capable ball handler; Dick Kerschner, who represents good bench strength for Joe Corbett's Buffaloes, and Dick Kaiser, able replacement for Sealock.

GRANVILLE IS 1-2 against Class AA competition and 14-2 battling Class A teams. Scioto has met no Class AA schools.

Toughest obstacle for any Pickaway team to overcome at Otterbein will be the glass bankboards and large floor. All three county teams will need a bit of luck to get past their first tournament game on a roomy and excellent basketball court.

Another handicap is the fact that several of the entrants at the Otterbein tourney played their county tournaments on the same floor, such as Columbus Rosary, Columbus St. Marys and Scioto's opponent, Granville.

This fact has perturbed county coaches for years for its unfairness because it gives previous participants tournament action on the district court, a great advantage.

Nevertheless, Pickaway County will be well represented at Otterbein, handicap or no handicap, and any victories brought home will be well deserved and earned.

Smith expressed himself as well satisfied at the physical condition of his 14 pitchers and 5 catchers. "The battersmen are in fine shape with very little extra weight on any of them," he said. "Most of them are ready to get down to serious work already."

Progression Golf

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A group of officials of the Virginia State Golf Assn., here for a meeting, had a look at the links first. Bob Scott, chairman of the handicap committee, scored a hole-in-one on the 196-yard 17th at the Country Club of Virginia. Let's make it one, two, three, four said Richmond's Harry Easterly and promptly placed one near the pin for an easy duce.

Jose Davila made the green and was down in two putts for his three. George Fulton's drive was bad but he was down in four.

Kentucky '5' Back on Top Of Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky, a team that gets up when the chips are down, is back in the No. 1 spot in the national college basketball rankings.

The 1958 National Collegiate champions turned in a couple of important victories last week to regain first place in The Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers and broadcasters which they had lost when they dropped a game to Mississippi State two weeks ago.

First they belted Vanderbilt 83-71 to wipe out their first defeat of the season, then they handed Auburn its first defeat, 65-56.

Although Kentucky is only third in the Southeastern Conference, those victories kept alive the Wildcats' hopes of again getting into the NCAA tournament, which they won last year.

Kentucky got some aid from an unexpected source in returning to the top. North Carolina, leader in last week's poll, got past its toughest rival, North Carolina State, then stumbled and lost to Maryland 69-51. That dropped the Tar Heels to third in the rankings behind Kentucky and Kansas State.

Auburn, second a week ago, slipped to sixth after losing to Kentucky.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. Kentucky (35)	822
2. Kansas State (24)	737
3. North Carolina (12)	693
4. Cincinnati (7)	598
5. Mississippi State (14)	556
6. Auburn (1)	451
7. North Carolina State (1)	427
8. Michigan State (1)	349
9. Bradley (2)	256
10. West Virginia (3)	146
The second ten: St. Louis 115; California 88; Marquette (1) 81; Texas Christian 70; Oklahoma City 58; Seattle 47; St. John's (NY) 41; St. Bonaventure 38; Portland 35; St. Mary's (Calif.) 17.

Trots Fail Here

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Harness racing at the Wisconsin State Fair has been finishing out of the money, and fair manager W. M. Masterson has recommended it be ruled off the track.

The largest attendance in the three-day program last summer was 8,000 on the third day. But admission was free and there also was a Dairy Day program for grandstand visitors. Paid attendance the other two days totaled 2,582.

Calumet Back Again

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Calumet Farm, owned by Mrs. Gene Markey, will seek its fourth straight Hialeah title this winter. The Lexington stable set a Florida record at the 1956 meeting, winning $251,450.

Case Tech Uses Electronics In Building Cage Combine

CLEVELAND (AP)—Case Institute of Technology is parlaying its electronic know-how into a pretty good basketball season.

A year ago the Rough Riders won 5 and lost 10, averaging 61.5 points to 68.9 for the foe. This year the record is 12 wins and 2 losses, with a scoring advantage of 73.2 to 64.2—a turnover of 16.3 points in favor of Coach Phillip (Nip) Helm's boys.

Some new sophomore talent has helped in the changing picture, but also getting some of the credit are a staff of mathematics majors, an IBM Computer and Univac.

Headed by student manager Don Knuth of Milwaukee, a team of figure-filberts puts a cold, mathematical eye on every player in every game.

Among items jotted down are the number of minutes played, the long, medium and short shots taken, the baskets scored from each distance, fouls made, free throws converted, offensive and defensive rebounds, the fumbles, poor passes etc.

Every player's every move is recorded on punched cards, and the computers evaluate the performances.

"Primary value of the system," Heim said, "is the opportunity it affords to begin polishing a man on his weak points the day after the game. The results often influence decisions on just which boys will play on a given night."

Heim, a graduate of Mt. Union where he played on two Ohio Conference championship quintets, formerly coached at Alliance and Canal Fulton high schools.

Heim said the game - by - game data in its cumulative aspect gives him his ideal starting lineup—but he admits there are some flaws which can't be computed. The punched cards cannot predict or evaluate attitude.

The Rough Rider mentor said several times his staff of mathematical experts had indicated a certain boy was best for a starting job, but that he didn't pan out. "Maybe he was worried about a test, or was 'off his feed' for some reason," Heim said. He believes a coach's discerning eye in such situations cannot be replaced by cold figures.

Low Hoad Trips Mighty Gonzales

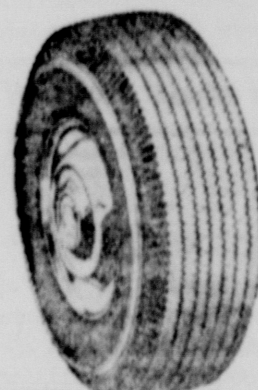

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Low Hoad defeated Pancho Gonzales, world professional champion, in a tight tennis serving duel Monday night, 6-4, 12-10.

Hoad, former amateur champion, outscored Gonzales and was lightning fast at the net, cutting off many of Gonzales' shots.

In the other match played in Jack Kramer's pro tennis tour, Ashley Cooper, world amateur champion, defeated Australian Mel Anderson, 6-4, 12-10.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Thought, Not Ring, Counts

DEAR ABBY: Am I foolish for accepting an engagement ring from a fellow who came right out and admitted that it was the same ring he gave a girl two years ago? He said they agreed to break the engagement and that was all. I didn't know this fellow when he was engaged to her so what do I care? My girlfriend said I was a ninny for accepting the ring he gave her. What is your opinion?

ENGAGED AND HAPPY
DEAR ENGAGED: If a man can sell two birds (chicks, that is) with one stone, there is no harm in it. You've got the right attitude. I think your girlfriend is jealous.

DEAR ABBY: If they gave a prize to the world's biggest liar, I'm sure my husband would win it. He's an automobile salesman and his job makes it possible for him to meet lots of lonely ladies at all hours. He stayed out until six o'clock in the morning with a woman he sold a car to and he had the nerve to tell me that nothing happened. A man doesn't stay out till six in the morning holding hands. He said she was married and her husband was along. I found out she was divorced and they were alone. He said she paid CASH for the car and I found a contract which said "Terms: Monthly Payments." What would you advise?

SALESMAN'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Tell him if he pulls any more shenanigans like that he can send his support check in the mail. When he has two rent bills to pay (his and yours) the extra-marital activities won't look so good to him.

DEAR ABBY: Our little club consists of a few ladies who have known each other for years. We have one member who gets my goat. Whenever she goes to somebody else's house she goes on an "inspection" tour for dirt. She even looks behind the washing machine to see what's back there. She looks into closets and drawers. Don't you think she should sit in the living room until she is invited to see something? Also it is correct to say, "I enjoyed the meeting very much. Everything looks so nice and clean." BEA
DEAR BEA: Little people are always looking for little particles of dust and dirt. It's a sickness. Ignore her remarks and remember her in your prayers.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder do teen-agers realize that when they hold up a telephone line for needless re-hashing of boy friends, clothes and other nonsense, a life may be at stake? The teen-agers have tied up our telephone circuits so completely that it is often impossible to reach a whole section. Please print this. It may save a life.
REGISTERED NURSE
DEAR NURSE: I agree that there is a lot of idle chatter on the wires by both teen-agers and adults, but all one needs in order to put through an "emergency call" is to ask for the telephone supervisor.

Paraguay Chief Faces Revolution

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—South America's only remaining dictator, Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay, is fighting a war of nerves led by a youthful Roman Catholic priest.

Stroessner's land-locked country of 1½ million people is a land of fear and suspicion, gradually becoming more isolated in a continent where dictatorships have gone out of style.

Thousands of refugee Paraguayans are openly plotting Stroessner's overthrow.

DiSalle Notes Approval of 30-40 Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—After a 90-minute session Monday with legislative leaders, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said he offered recommendations on 30 or 40 pending bills.

Emphasizing that he made only recommendations, DiSalle said: "There is no way I know to force any Legislature to pass any legislation except by the use of a club or the old-fashioned pressure system."

"We will give our reasons why we are for or against any bill. Then it is up to the Legislature to determine whether the reasons are sufficient. There is a fine line there — whether the governor should provide leadership, whether he should be a dictator, whether the Legislature should merely be a rubber stamp, or whether there should be a partnership."

DiSalle told newsmen he would sign a bill limiting capital punishment even though it permitted electrocution for those who kill policemen or prison guards.

"After all," he said, "if you do away with 95 per cent of electrocutions, you have made a step in the right direction."

DiSalle closed the door on the possibility of becoming a candidate for the Democratic 1960 presidential nomination. He said his running "is not even in the realm of possibility."

"It would be silly for a governor who has been in office only five weeks and who has no record of accomplishment to be running for national office. . . ."

2 Men Get $2½ Million in Farm Props

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) told the Senate today that two large farm operators collected more than 2½ million dollars in government farm price supports in 1957.

"The high, rigid support program is little more than a government guarantee on the operations of corporate type farming," Williams said, "and actually encourages and underwrites absentee ownership to the detriment of the small farmers."

The senator said the two largest government supports were $1,460,902 to the Producer's Rice Mill, Inc., Stuttgart, Ark., on rice; and $1,157,502 to the Delta & Pine Land Co., Scott, Miss., on cotton.

Williams also read a long list of other 1957 price supports ranging above $100,000 to more than a million.

For several years Williams has asked repeal of current farm price support laws and urged that the secretary of agriculture be given greater discretionary authority to lower the support prices on the basic crops.

He said the price support programs are of "far greater benefit to the large farmers than small farmers."

Williams said these two payments in one year were larger than those received by all farmers in his home state of Delaware for two years—1956-57.

tionaries is the Rev. Ramon Talavera, 35, who says, "Some church leaders might disapprove of what I am doing, but in fighting injustice and tyranny I'm within God's principles."

The priest came to Uruguay last November after being expelled from openly preaching against Stroessner's strongman rule. Proclaiming a "National Liberation Front," he has appealed to other refugee Paraguayans here and in Argentina to join his crusade against the 44-year-old dictator.

Father Talavera, son of a wealthy rancher, says his revolt was born while serving as a chaplain in a Paraguayan jail where political prisoners were kept.

"I saw men beat up, or with the burns of an electric wire in expertly used."

The Stroessner government has accused the priest of Communist leanings but he insists: "I'm not a Communist. I'm a Christian as are most of the Paraguayan people. In our Christian hearts, there is no place for an atheist doctrine like communism."

Stroessner, son of a German settler and a Paraguayan mother, rose to power five years ago at the head of a military coup.

The old cobbled streets of his capital—Asuncion—clatter in the daytime.

But when night falls, the streets are deserted — shrouded in fear and suspicion.

At no time does anyone publicly say anything against the government. Even foreign diplomats glance over their shoulders while discussing the regime.

Opposition factions look to the outside for help in overthrowing the regime—spurred by the anti-dictator campaigns in Cuba and Venezuela.

New Delhi Electrical Supply Said Limited

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — If everyone in this city flipped their light switches at the same time, the chairman of the Electricity Supply Committee says, it might take months to get all the lights working again.

Chairman Bihari Ram Jain said the full load on the capital's electrical system is 200,000 kilowatts. But fortunately no more than 74,000 kilowatts is used at any one time.

The city hopes for additional electric power when the Bakra Nangal Dam begins production next year.

Catholic Paper Disagrees on Kennedy Views

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A national Catholic weekly magazine disagrees with Sen. John Kennedy's statement about the separation of a public official's religious beliefs and his governmental duties.

The March 7 issue of Ave Maria notes Kennedy as saying: "Whatever one's religion in private life may be, for the officeholder nothing takes precedence over his oath to uphold the Constitution and all its parts—including the First Amendment and the strict separation of church and state."

The magazine's editorial said that "to relegate your conscience to your 'private life' is not only unrealistic, but dangerous as well."

Ave Maria is published by the Holy Cross Fathers at the University of Notre Dame.

The statement by Kennedy, a Massachusetts Democrat, was in a national magazine article concerning a Catholic's chances of becoming president in 1960.

Beef Round-Up Day Event Moved To Fairgrounds

Wallace Attends Lawmaker's Funeral

State Representative Ed Wallace left at noon today for Port Clinton to attend the funeral of close personal friend, William F. Rofkar, representative from Ottawa County.

Rofkar died Sunday of a heart attack after attending sessions of the General Assembly last week. He was chairman of the Education Committee.

Wallace and seven other representatives were flown to Port Clinton in a National Guard plane.

Robert Wood Heads Easter Seal Campaign

"Our community still has many handicapped children and adults who could be happy and useful citizens if they had rehabilitation services to help them."

This is the belief of Robert Wood, chairman of the 1959 Easter Seal Drive, and of the helpers who are planning the campaign due to open Friday.

"This need is one big reason why I accepted the chairmanship — so that the expensive rehabilitation services may be underwritten with the necessary funds. We hope they will be forthcoming from residents of Pickaway County who see this need also," Wood said today.

Well known in this area for his community activities, Wood is a member of the Elks, Masons, Scottish Shrines and the American Legion. He is a member of the Methodist Church.

The Easter Seal Drive, directed by Wood, will help the work of the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. This organization has been functioning locally since 1951, its purpose being to assist in serving every person in the community who may need rehabilitation care.

Officers of the organization who are planning this pre-Easter campaign are Mrs. Charles Walker, president; Mrs. C. O. Schweizer, vice president; Mrs. Alvin H. Perdon, secretary; and Mrs. Harry Betz, treasurer.

Cincy Lawmen Holding Talks To Curb 'Numbers Racket'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati and Hamilton County law enforcement officials huddle today in an effort to determine ways of inflicting more severe penalties on persons involved in the so-called "numbers racket."

At present, persons convicted of selling policy slips can only be fined.

The conference among Police Chief Stanley R. Schrotel, County Prosecutor C. Watson Hover and City Solicitor James Farrell was called in the wake of two week-end dynamitings blamed by police on a dispute among "numbers" operators.

Three persons now are under arrest.

One of them, Peter (Junior) Andrews, 30, was quoted as admitting there was a shortage of about $12,000 in the funds of his uncle, Frank (Screw) Andrews, 47, after he (Peter) broke away from the uncle's operations.

Lt. Charles Martin and Carl Lind said they were told by Frank Andrews the shortage was closer to $18,000.

The Cincinnati Enquirer had a photograph, however, of an auditing machine tape marked "total short" along with the figure $112,000.

Peter Andrews was quoted by police as saying he broke with his uncle because he was not being paid enough and that he believed the dynamitings were revenge because he was taking too much "numbers" business away from what he called "the big three."

The dynamitings occurred here Saturday night and early Sunday morning. One was at the home of Mrs. Sue Bohannon and the other at the home of Mrs. Ernestine Hall where Peter Andrews was visiting.

Mrs. Bohannon was the sister-in-law of Mrs. Lillie Bohannon, a known "numbers" operator, who was shot to death here several months ago. Her slaying never has been solved.

Peter Andrews and Mrs. Sue Bohannon have been charged with promoting a scheme of chance. Andrews' brother, Frank Andriola, is charged with possession of policy slips.

Andriola is the correct Andrews family name.

New Delhi Electrical Supply Said Limited

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—If everyone in this city flipped their light switches at the same time, the chairman of the Electricity Supply Committee says, it might take months to get all the lights working again.

Chairman Bhiku Ram Jain said the full load on the capital's electrical system is 200,000 kilowatts. But fortunately no more than 74,000 kilowatts is used at any one time.

The city hopes for additional electric power when the Bakra Nangal Dam begins production next year.

Oiga is the Teutonic name for a "holy woman."

Wallace Attends Lawmaker's Funeral

State Representative Ed Wallace left at noon today for Port Clinton to attend the funeral of close personal friend, William F. Rofkar, representative from Ottawa County.

Rofkar died Sunday of a heart attack after attending sessions of the General Assembly last week. He was chairman of the Education Committee.

Wallace and seven other representatives were flown to Port Clinton in a National Guard plane.

2 Men Get $2½ Million in Farm Props

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams (R-Ind.) told the Senate today that two large farm operators collected more than $2½ million dollars in government farm price supports in 1957.

"The high, rigid support program is little more than a government guarantee on the operations of corporate type farming," Williams said, "and actually encourages and underwrites absentee ownership to the detriment of the small farmers."

The senator said the two largest government supports were $1,460,902 to the Producer's Rice Mill, Inc., Stuttgart, Ark., on rice; and $1,157,502 to the Delta & Pine Land Co., Scott, Miss., on cotton.

Williams also read a long list of other 1957 price supports ranging above $100,000 to more than a million.

For several years Williams has asked repeal of current farm price support laws and urged that the secretary of agriculture be given greater discretionary authority to lower the support prices on the basic crops.

He said the price support programs are of "far greater benefit to the large farmers than small farmers."

Williams said these two payments in one year were larger than those received by all farmers in his home state of Delaware for two years—1956-57.
